The Office of Investigations and Civil Rights Compliance offers the UO community a place to discuss and report concerns regarding discriminatory or harassing behavior, and helps identify how such concerns may best be addressed and resolved. The office supports the university's compliance with federal and state laws regarding prohibited discrimination and harassment and equal employment opportunity. Staff members in the office work with students, faculty and staff members, and campus community members to promote an environment free from discrimination and harassment, and department leadership serves as the university's Title IX Coordinator.

To report a concern or complaint, visit the website and click on How to Report (https://investigations.uoregon.edu/how-report/). You can also make reports or send questions via email at icrcinfo@uoregon.edu.
